Residential on 0.36 Acres

Gordonston, Savannah, GA

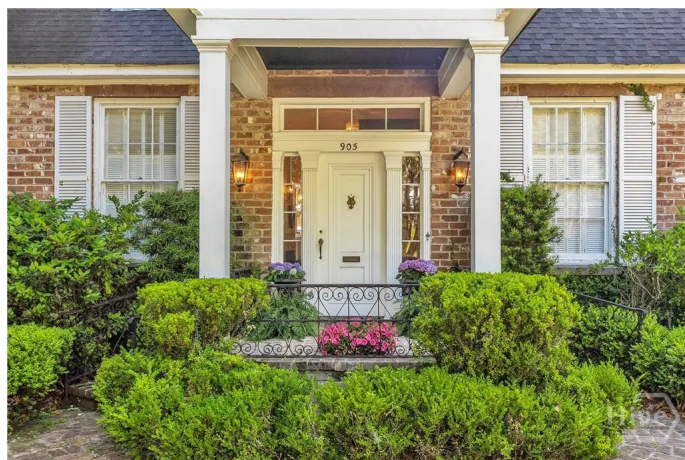

Behind an understated brick facade, this classic Savannah residence conceals nearly 3,300 sq ft of exquisitely proportioned living space - a size that is delightfully deceptive from the street. Designed by renowned Savannah architect John Lebey and crafted with salvaged materials from historic downtown homes, its wide plank heart-pine floors and softly filtered light evoke timeless Lowcountry elegance. A lush secret garden offers a tranquil retreat, while inside, a gracious living room and exceptionally large dining room provide the perfect setting for gatherings both intimate and grand. A paneled sitting room with gas-log fireplace adds cozy charm, and the generous chef's kitchen features gas cooktop, wall oven, refrigerator, dishwasher, pantry and abundant cabinetry. The graceful center hall leads to a main-level primary suite, while upstairs includes 3 additional bedrooms and a 2nd paneled sitting room - ideal for guests, a home office or upstairs sitting room. Steps away from the side door is the garage. Enduring character, abundant storage and masterful design merge in this rare architectural treasure -- offering far more than meets the eye.
